Dear Editor,

We are 6th graders at H.H. Wells middle school in Brewster, and we have a deep concern for the environment. Every day more and more Carbon Dioxide is let into the air by factories. Many companies need to dump into the ocean and on land, but no one has to pay too dump into the air. With companies releasing carbon dioxide into the atmosphere non-stop, it seems that global warming will continue to rise. There are also not enough trees in the world to take this carbon dioxide out of the air. So our theory is that if we make a law that makes them pay to let Carbon Dioxide into the air they will, stop or will let out less. So please call your senator to make this law. It's for your sake, our sake, and the world's sake.

Sincerely,
